Lincolnshire Show
Judge: Clive Davies
22 June 2022

My previous visit to Lincolnshire Show was some 52 years ago when my father judged the Hereford Cattle entry. To return to the eastern counties with this fairly long-established invitation was high with anticipation. Come the event, the weather was, hot!! However, the dry sunny weather allowed a high-quality entry of Longhorns to look superb.

The two bull classes were led by bulls with plenty of development and a great depth of muscling. The second-placed senior bull was impressive for his length and mobility whilst the runner-up junior bull impressed with his potential. This, the youngest bull on show must be watched.

Two superb breeding cows graced the start of the female section. The leader was impressive for her great construction, particularly through the hind leg. Although well-conditioned she boasted an impressive bull calf and was a very complete package. The second prized cow, with her striking heifer calf at foot, had great femininity and carries many qualities to progress this family and the breed. The senior heifer division was an interesting and competitive class with various options of placings available but the winner was a correct, well-constructed heifer, full of conformation. The runner-up was stylish and free-moving. The junior heifer class had a clear winner. This youngster had length, shape and moved very well. The second-placed heifer would have stood out more at most events had the leader not been available. The pairs class was altogether a strong demonstration of the quality and consistency that is now evident amongst the Longhorn breed. It may have been possible for many different orders to have been arrived at but the winners were strong and complemented each other.

The Male Championship was fiercely competed for. Length with shape dictated the winning line-up. The Female Championship was very competitive with the three first-prize contenders each proving their place for consideration. The sheer presence of the cow with calf took the accolade. A very complete entry but it was the promise and potential of the yearling heifer that moved her into the runner-up spot. There was little doubt that these two should take the Supreme and Reserve Supreme positions even in the company of the impressive males.

Many thanks to everyone for allowing me to be part of this outstanding display of the English Longhorns. It is unlikely that there were any of the Breed present when I was last at Lincolnshire Show, but if showgoers then could see what we can now witness, they would be impressed. This is a great credit to all those that have worked so hard at developing this great breed of cattle. Thank you!!
