

Longhorn Friday Feature

Each Friday over the winter a different herd will be featured on Facebook and the blog, with links from Twitter and the website. A selection will also feature in the next Journal, due for publication in March 2020.

There's a set format, and I'm trying to get as many different herds as possible featured to show the breadth and diversity of the breed and it's members.

Please answer the following questions using no more than 50 words per answer. Also send up to four photos of your choice.

How would you sum up the Longhorn breed?
