

Trip to Cornwall
Friday 30 September – Sunday 2 October 2011

This is the itinerary for our Cornish trip. Our main base for the weekend will be the Commercial Hotel in St Just but our accommodation is split around the locality as there aren't any establishments that can accommodate all of us.

Kenny Trembath of the Sun-Set herd has organised our itinerary for us, with a mixture of visits to Longhorn cattle and elements of Cornwall's rich life, industry and history incorporating agriculture, the sea, Cornwall's industrial heritage, the arts and some of its finest scenery.

It should be a great weekend!

Itinerary

Friday 30 September – make your way to your accommodation. There are plenty of good pubs in St Just, many of whom put on live traditional music on a Friday night.

Saturday 1 October

9.15 Meet at Commercial Hotel, St Just. We'll be on a coach for the visits as there isn't room for cars at some of the locations and it keeps us altogether!

The website below has more details about St Just and the surrounding area.

Visit to the Sun-Set Longhorns at Carnyorth Common – Natural England conservation grazing site.

Travel to St Ives, independent lunch and time in St Ives. For many years St Ives has had a thriving artist community and is home to a satellite of the Tate Gallery. See the website below for more details

Travel from St Ives to the Trannack herd of Longhorns, Hayle. This small herd is owned by the Ellis family and was established in the mid 1990's.

Travel from Hayle Marazion and St Michael's Mount. A trip to the Mount may be possible dependent on tide times. Again – have a look at the website below.
